Slow motor start reduces equipment noise and stress on drive train

Spaceman uses patented technology to prepare and freeze product faster and more efficiently than any competitor. Spaceman's v2 beater/blade combo and PAR (product/air ratio) system reduces wearable parts by over 25% while improving product quality and overrun control. The v2 beater and blade assemblies scrape the cylinder walls with precision to ensure less ice build up - ensuring smoother, creamier product. The v2 beater helix design creates a vacuum, pulling product through the air tube with precise product to air ratio. The v2 beater and air tube system has been tested to hold overrun for a longer period of time than other gravity fed systems.

Choose the "A" version and go from gravity fed to a pressurized air pump system. The Spaceman air pump allows you to choose between six overrun settings, giving you the ability to add even more air to the product - yielding higher profits, creamier, fluffier, and lighter product.

Add an air pump anytime you wish to dip cones, swirl extra high, or get that light insta look!
